

STEPHEN HAWKING

Looking at the night sky hasn't been the same since the publication of Stephen Hawking's book A Brief History of Time in 1988. The physicist began writing his layperson's guide to cosmology when he was 40 and the book wasn't published until six years later. The book remained on The Sunday Times bestsellers list for a record-breaking 237 weeks.

AGE IS JUST A NUMBER

46

MAKE YOUR EXPERIENCE
COUNT

You're never too old to tap your potential — find out about opportunities in maths for mature learners.

www.mathscareers.org.uk

AGE is just a NUMBER